“ To the children of Rashawn Taylor, who I always called him Rae,he was a loving man who cared for others, but did what he wanted, he would take your advice. He enjoyed driving vehicles, cooking, playing basketball, a would attend church sometimes, he enjoyed working the different jobs he had throughout his life,he always attended to come over for holidays and would bring plenty of his friends, I will miss telling him to stay safe call me and let me know your alright, and most of all hugging him and saying how much I love him. R.I.P. Twin... It's not a day that goes by I don't think about you. I remember when you used to walk me to school on 10 Lee street in Vallejo, when you helped me and my baby mom move in Hayward... So many good memories, but my favorite is when you did the jingle bell rap for the church. My heart is heavy with grief brother.. You were one of the kindest, helping, loving souls I ever met. Thank you for all the memories.. Tell your brother Dee, and Miss Diane I said hi. Love you forever-Gabriel Hadley
